

WORKSHOP INVITATION: spirituality & climate activism

when: Saturday,
19th November
10 am - 4 pm
where: UTAS Multifaith
Centre, TUU Building,
Churchill Ave,
Sandy Bay

FACILITATOR:

John Carroll is a climate activist, theologically trained Pastor and Secretary of ARRCC. He has had community organising training from those masters of social change in Australia, the Change Agency.

SUGGESTED DONATION:

$15 or concession rate $10
to help cover costs

Participants will need to provide their own lunch

RSVP (essential by 17th November):

email: info@arrcc.org.au
or phone Terry on: 0438 069 728
Places are limited.

You are warmly invited to a workshop with other like-minded people of faith to explore:

- How might it be possible to combine spirituality with climate activism?
- In what ways are people from various faith backgrounds already doing this in the organisation Australian Religious Response to Climate Change?
- How does listening to the cry of Aboriginal custodians of the land inform this work?
- What approaches might serve to inspire others in my faith community to begin taking action?

ORGANISED BY ARRCC in collaboration with Religions for Peace Australia and the UTAS Multifaith Chaplaincy.

Australian Religious Response to Climate Change (ARRCC, pronounced 'ark') is a multi-faith, member-based organisation of people from around Australia. While celebrating the uniqueness of our different traditions, we stand together in working for an ecologically and socially sustainable future. We recognise that climate change is not only a scientific, environmental, economic and political issue – it is also a profoundly moral and spiritual one.